The decree of neonicotinoids suspension until June 30 2012 was published on the Official Gazette.

The suspension was signaled by two distinct communications by the Ministries of Health and Agriculture.

Beekeeping and citizens, concerned about the unacceptable environmental impact of neonicotinoid insecticides, pay attention about this new precautionary measures. On the contrary it's growing up the concern about many and incomprehensible declarations made by the press; there are still many questions ...

The "framework" has not the invoked "complexity", not nearly! There is the tendency to complicate the results of the studies by adopting non-uniform methodologies that lead to a diversity of results. It is possible that this situation is due to the will of not wanting to take discoveries inconvenient for chemical sellers.

The European authorization of the molecules highlighted (first in France for the maize and sunflower, then Germany, Slovenia, Italy etc. ...) the serious and unacceptable shortcomings of the precautionary authorization procedure.
